Vaudreuil-Dorion: one of the best cities in Canada to raise kids

Vaudreuil-Dorion, July 6, 2017 – According to MoneySense, a Canadian online personal finance and lifestyle magazine published by Rogers Publishing Limited, the City of Vaudreuil-Dorion provides optimal conditions for raising kids and ranks 15th among the country's best places to raise kids. MoneySense has been publishing its Canada's Best Places to Live report, measuring different features of Canadian cities, for the last 15 years.

The assessment criteria used for the Best Places to Raise Kids category are: demography, daycare, unemployment, income and wealth, home ownership, tax rates, mobility (transportation), crime rate, healthcare, climate, access to services, culture and community life. A score is given for each of these criteria. "We are thrilled with our ranking. Being considered one of the best Canadian cities to raise kids is truly rewarding for the municipal council. We can't say we are surprised though. After all, we know that Vaudreuil-Dorion provides an extraordinary living environment. It's a safe place to live, we have one of the lowest tax rates in the region and our equipment and facilities—our water play areas, parks, Centre Multisports, arenas, sports fields, gardens, bike paths, soon-to-be-expanded municipal library as well as our cultural and recreational activities—are certainly the envy of many. Plus, our families and citizens have access to multiple services and businesses right here at home. I would like to thank our municipal employees who work so hard to ensure that our citizens can enjoy being part of a city that is such a great place to live. What a beautiful example of amazing teamwork," stated Mayor Guy Pilon.
